Aspire to Inspire Dyslexia

Dyslexia has to be recognised as a hidden disability affecting 1 in 10 people in UK, which hinders dyslexic people to look and to apply for jobs, to excel in education and in every day life. That's why WoW Mums Sandra Munoz Alvarez and Senia Dedic have helped Elizabeth Kwarteng-Amaning with PR and with administration to launch her Aspire 2 Inspire Dyslexia charitable organisation, so she could take further this crucial support for adults with Dyslexia and potentially solve some of their problems.

WoW Mums are pleased that Dyslexia is recognised in schools now so children can be helped, but adults with Dyslexia and Dyspraxia are forgotten. That is why Aspire 2 Inspire Dyslexia support group is such an important service for all residents in Wandsworth. Elizabeth struggled for many years to set up her charity. 'I wouldn't have been able to do this without Senia's and Sandra's support.' said Elizabeth Elizabeth is also grateful to Branduin, Lifetimes Care 4 Me and Wandsworth Business Chambers for their support. Please contact a2idyslexia.co.uk if you can help as a Trustee, Secretary or a Treasurer for this amazing charity.

Inter-generational Easter Lunch

Residents of Haven Lodge, WoW Mums and WoW Kids

WoW Mum Jeanette Wickham prepared tasty lamb Easter lunch for the residents of Haven Lodge, John Kirk House, WoW Kids and for our guests from NHS Clinical Commissioning Group, Kambala RA, 'Move' and Aspire to Inspire Dyslexia. WoW Mums are taking Haven Lodge residents to an Art Exhibition in The Magic Garden on 7th May, where artworks made by the residents and WoW Kids will be displayed as part of the Wandsworth Art Fringe Festival. We would like to thank our funders Big Local SW11 for helping us make this happen.

Easter Egg Hunt

Local children enjoyed making their Easter baskets together with the elderly at a crafts workshop organised by WoW Mums during Easter break.

Children enjoyed a good run looking for Easter eggs, which they found in the beautiful Haven Lodge garden hidden amongst Rosemary, Lavender and other lovely flowers planted by the Lodge residents.

'I love coming to Haven Lodge', said Eduardo.

Art Talk organised by curator Mel Barry, which will be showcasing and supporting local places and the local talent is on Sunday, 9th May in Mason's Arms on Battersea Park Road from 5pm.

Enjoy the chat with local artists, whose art will be displayed on this day including Christopher Guest's dance inspired sketches, Senia Dedic's aquarelles and Mandana Khonsari's spectacular aquatint etchings of local icons.

All welcome. Free entry.

Eduardo, Joel, Billy, Amanda, Janine, Charly and Thomas
